Submission proposal deadline October 31, 2019. Send title and abstract to reyes@udc.es or manuel-reyes.hurtado@ucl.ac.uk

The organization provides accommodation information in London to those who need it.

Style Guidelines

Maximum length of 25 DIN A4 pages (in number of characters would be about 50,000 with spaces, not including footnotes), including text, tables, appendices, graphs, maps, footnotes and bibliography.

Language: Spanish or English.

Margins: upper, lower, right and left at 3 cm.

Letter: Garamond, type 12 in the text and type 10 in the notes. Line spacing: Simple.

Without paragraph indents, which will be included by the editor when the text is edited. Do not leave lines between paragraphs.

Separate long text quotes (those that are longer than three lines) from the paragraph they are part of. The typeface in these cases will be Garamond 9.

The graphs, tables, maps, etc., will be numbered with Arabic characters, will have a short title and will include a mention of the sources used in their elaboration.

The graphs and tables must be presented in a separate file for later layout.

The images in color or in black and white (preferably in color, although during the editing process the colors can be replaced by gray scales or lines patterns), in addition to being already inserted in the text, they must be sent in a separate file with resolution of 300 pixels / inch in fomato jpg and a size of 15x25 cm. plus / minus, and graphics in Word.

If the text has subdivisions, Arabic numerals separated by periods will be used to indicate the different sections.

Please observe the style guidelines below, which are based on Oxford University Press's New Hart's Rules and the Oxford Dictionary for Writers and Editors.

References (Humanities)

Please use the preferred reference style in the 2005 edition of New Hart's Rules. The bibliography should be alphabetized by author last name and, for multiple works by one author, by title. Works with no author should be alphabetized by the first word (after the definite or indefinite article).

Examples of entries in a bibliography:

Book

Cary, George, The Medieval Alexander (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1956).

Book with one or more authors/editors

Taberner, Stuart, ed., Distorted Reflections (Amsterdam: Rodopi, 1998).

——, and Frank Finlay, eds, Recasting German Identity: Culture, Politics and Literature in the Berlin Republic (Rochester, NY: Camden House, 2003).

Chapter in a book

Shearman, John, 'The Vatican Stanze: Functions and Decoration', in George Holmes, ed., Art and Politics in Renaissance Italy (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1993), 185–240.

Article in a journal

Downing, Taylor, and Andrew Johnston, 'The Spitfire Legend', History Today 50/9 (2000), 19–25.

Newspaper article

Walser, Martin, 'Teufel von Auschwitz sind eher arme Teufel', Abendpost (14 March 1965).

Online article

Allaby, Michael, 'Feathers and Lava Lamps', Oxford Reference (2013), <<http://www.oxfordreference.com/page/featherslavalamps>>, accessed 9 November 2013.

Footnotes

In the footnotes, the first mention of a reference should appear as above, but with the author's first name first. Subsequent references can simply include the author's name, title and page reference:

1 George Cary, The Medieval Alexander (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1956), 246. 2 Cary, The Medieval Alexander, 132.

References (Social Sciences)

Use the Harvard style of author–date citations and bibliography, as described in the 2005 edition of New Hart's Rules. The bibliography should be alphabetized by author last name and multiple works by one author should be organized chronologically. If more than one work by the same author has the same date, add 'a' and 'b' after the dates and organize them alphabetically by title (see below).

Examples of entries in a bibliography:

Book

Balassa, B. (1961). The Theory of Economic Integration. London: Allen and Unwin.

Book with one or more authors/editors

Duncan, G. J., and Brooks-Gunn, J. (eds) (1997). Consequences of Growing Up Poor. New York: Russell Sage Foundation.

Chapter in a book

Magarey, M. E. (1988). 'Examination of the Cervical and Thoracic Spine'. In R. Grant (ed.), Physical Therapy of the Cervical and Thoracic Spine, pp. 81–109. San Diego, CA: Harcourt.

Article in a journal

Jessop, B. (1995a). 'Regional Economic Blocs', American Behavioral Scientist, 38 (5), 674–715.
—— (1995b). 'Regulation Approach, Governance and Post-Fordism', Economy and Society, 24 (3), 307–33.

Newspaper article

Cumming, F. (1999). 'Tax-Free Savings Push', Sunday Mail, 4 April, p. 1.

Online article

Boughton, J. M. (2002). 'The Bretton Woods Proposal: An In-depth Look', Political Science Quarterly, 42 (6), <<http://www.pol.upenn/articles>>, accessed 12 June 2005.

Citations

In-text citations should use the author–date style and be inserted into text prior to punctuation. In indented block quotes, however, the author–date citation follows end punctuation. The page number may be included after a colon, if necessary:

For years, most textbooks referred to the five stages of economic integration (Jessop 1995b). According to Higgins, preventative medicine is 'cost effective' (2005: 56), but not efficient. Berkley (2009: 43) argued that '[g]lobal climate change has caused billions of pounds of damage'.

Spelling

Use British spellings, but use –ize endings (realize, organize, etc.). However, note that 'analyse' should be used, not 'analyze'.

Abbreviations, Contractions and Acronyms

Use full points:

- If an abbreviation does not end with the final letter of the word: ed., vol., no., Rev.
- After initials in a name: R. A. Butler (and leave a space between initials)

Do not use full points:

- If a contraction ends with the final letter of the word: Dr, Mr, Mrs, St, eds, edn
- In metric units of measurement: cm, kg
- In acronyms, such as initials of organizations or associations: RAC, BBC, USA

Capitalization

Please be consistent in your capitalization of key terms throughout the manuscript. Use capital letters:

- For proper names; proper names of institutions, organizations or movements (Romanticism, the Gothic), and for words derived from proper names (Dantesque, Latinize)
- For prefixes and titles (President Barack Obama, Pope John Paul)
- For recognized geographical names (Northern Ireland)
- For proper names of periods or natural phenomena (Jurassic)
- For historical eras and events (the Reformation)
- For trade names (Levi's)
- For titles of works of literature in English

Do not use capital letters:

- For titles not preceding a person's name (the US president, the pope)

- For descriptions of geographical regions (northern England)
- For political theories (socialism, communism, fascism, the left, but National Socialism)
- For academic subjects (literature, history), unless it is part of a job title or department name (Professor of English Literature)

Punctuation

Commas

Do not use serial commas in lists: We bought apples, oranges and pears (NOT apples, oranges, and pears).

Dashes

A dash indicates a break in thought or explanatory phrases. Use an 'en' rule with a space on either side – to be typed thus.

Hyphens

Maintain consistency throughout the manuscript for all key terms.

- Use hyphens for compound nouns (make-up), adjectival phrases (middle-class neighbourhoods), between repeated vowels (co-operate)
- Do not use hyphens for established compound nouns (soundtrack, breakdown), between an adverb and adjective if the adverb ends in 'ly' (widely known), between two vowels that don't clash (reintroduce), in words with the 're-' prefix that don't clash (rewrite, rethink). Email should be written without a hyphen (not e-mail).

Ellipses

An ellipsis should be used to indicate an omission in quoted material or a pause.

- Use three dots with spaces on either side ... like this.
- Do not start or end quotations with ellipses; simply leave them out.
- Indicate the elision of text from within a direct quotation like this [...] with remaining text continuing. Do not place the ellipsis within square brackets if it is part of the original material that you are quoting.
- If a full stop follows the elision of text, indicate like this [...].

Numbers

In general, numbers up to 100 should be spelled out. For numbers 100 or more, use digits.

Use figures:

- For years: 1984, 1950s (not fifties)
- For dates: 25 June 1983 (not 25th of June, June 25)
- For percentages: 25 per cent (Note: with 'per cent' as two words)
- For measurements: 8 km, 15 hectares, 16 mm, 35 mm (spaced as shown)
- For numbers 100 and over: 400, 7.8 million (Note: use commas in numbers of four digits or more, as in 2,000 and 45,000)
- For numbers in a series: Table 1, Chapter 4

Do not use figures:

- For numbers less than 100: twenty-five people
- For centuries: nineteenth century (not 19th century) and nineteenth-century history (Note: the hyphen is required for adjectival use)

Spans of numbers:

- Use the fewest number of numerals: pp. 23–4, 1984–5
- In the teens, the '1' is always repeated: 12–13, 217–19

- In titles and headings, put numbers in full: The History of Germany, 1931–1993

Lists

If you are using lists within the manuscript, please be consistent in using numerals or letters. Bullet points may alternatively be used.

Italics, Underlining and Boldface

Please do not use bold type or underlining in your manuscript, except to differentiate between subheading levels or to provide instructions about the placement of images. However, italics may be used for certain purposes (see below).

Please note: often by default, Word formats websites in blue type with underlining. Please remove the underlining and change all text to black.

Use italics:

- For names of ships, film and play titles, works of art, long poems, newspapers (Note: only include 'The' in a newspaper title if it is followed by a single word, i.e. The Times, The Guardian and The Economist), paintings, books, magazines, journals, television programme names
- For foreign words and phrases not in common use (see New Hart's Rules)
- For emphasis (do not use bold or underlining)
- For key terms or coined words

Do not use italics:

- For poem, essay and short story titles; instead use roman type and single quotation marks
- Foreign words in common usage (rendezvous, regime, elite; Note: no accents)

Quotations

Use single quotation marks both for quotes from other sources as well as for terms presented with scepticism or irony.

Double quotation marks should be used within single quotation marks to set off material that in the original source was enclosed in quotation marks, such as: Miele (1993) found that 'the "placebo effect", which had been verified in previous studies, disappeared when behaviours were studied in this manner.'

Place the punctuation after the quotation mark if it is not part of the original quote.

Use square brackets for an editor's interpolation ('in many respects [hers is an] exemplary biography').

Block quotations

For quotations in prose that exceed 40 words, indent the entire quote and separate from the main text with a line space above and below. Do not use quotation marks. If using an in-text parenthetical citation, place the concluding punctuation mark after the last word, then include the parenthetical reference without punctuation.

Translations

Please provide English translations of direct quotations in foreign languages. The English translation should appear in square brackets following the original:

- Short quotations:

The cyclist Jean Bégulé was 'de ces Jean qu'on n'ose pas appeler Jeannot' [one of those men named John one dare not call Johnny] (93).

- Display quotations:

A jutjar per com es presentava l'alba, la jornada s'anunciava certament moguda, o sigui feta ara de cops de sol espetegador, ara de gèlids ruixims de pluja, tot plegat amanit amb ràfegues imprevistes de vent.

[Judging by how dawn presented, the day promised to be certainly varied, so made of blows of punishing sun, and gushes of icy rain, all spiced with unexpected gusts of wind.]

Beloved Enemy. United Kingdom and Spain in the 18th century

- Titles of foreign-language works:

Hohler's novel Der neue Berg [The New Mountain] (1989) is in part a satirical work.

- Terms or short phrases:

Montella was capocannoniere [top scorer], with eleven goals.

Footnotes may alternatively be used for English translations, or for the original foreign-language quotation if the majority of the text is in English.

Secondary sources may be provided in English translation only, if the original foreign-language text is not necessary for your argument.

If the translation is your own, please follow it with '(my translation)'. If you primarily use your own translations, please add a footnote following the first translation, stating, 'All translations are my own unless otherwise noted.'

Deadline for submission text July 31, 2020.
